Mr. R. T. Smith has sold his ---- prizery on New College Street to Miss Bettie Clark. The building will be altered and improved and fitted up for use as a school. The location is a good one and the house admirably adapted to the purpose. Miss Clark has been successful here as an educator that her present quarters are not large enough for the accommodations of her pupils and it is her intention when she gets into her new building to add to her corp of assistants and make the course of instruction as thorough and complete as furnished by any institution in the state.
 Editor note: This school was known as the Hilliard School.

Obituary of Mark E. Parrott

Oxford Torch Light

February 23, 1886

Composed by his daughter Anna F. Parrott, twelve years of age

“The twenty fifth of June this last,
My lovely father dear,
Went home to live with God above,
And we stayed sorrowing here

He was born in 1822
In fifty two he married,
In eighty five he passed away,
Oh! God he had tarried.

He had a wife, who mourns her loss,
He had three children dear,
Who knows he is with God above,
but still are sorrowing here.

For thirty five or forty years
He served his God above.
He told his children to serve Him,
and never cease to love.

He called unto his bedside there,
His wife and children too,
He said, “Oh, wife and children dear
My thoughts are all of you.

For I am not afraid to die
I am going home to God.
Am going home to live,
the way our fathers trod.

He said, “When I am gone then sing,
While ye stand around my bier,
And know I am God above,
And am not suffering here.

And every night before he slept,
He knelt beside his bed,
And prayed that those he might leave here,
Would serve God when he was dead.

Thank God thar we have mother yet,
God grant that she may linger,
God may we love her in old age,
The stronger and the stronger.

Let us love God with all our hearts,
and lean upon his word,
And after death we all may live
Forever with the Lord.

The estate of Gabriel Jones (brother of Elizabeth Jones and son of Ambrose Jones) is the one that mentions Elizabeth Winfree and her children. Gabriel Jones departed this life intestate and had no children.

His nearest heirs were his living brothers and sisters. As Elizabeth (Jones) Winfree, wife of James Winfree had died in 1811, her children were named as her heirs. Included in this reference is the mention of Sally (Winfree) Denny who married John Denny/Denney.

Editor Note:

The pages of the Estate Settlement of Gabriel Jones were found in the vertical file while searching for Bible records and thought this would be of some help in making the connection in the Jones family. Most of the members of the Society have a Jones line. The writer was very thorough in their research and cited their sources.

The North Carolina Justice

Most everybody at one time or another have wondered about the laws that govern the states and when these were established. The North Carolina Justice was written as a tool for the Justice of the Peace to have something to work with. Often in your research you will find information written a certain way as a result of this book. This book contains samples of forms used. This book was printed in 1839 and considered law and Containing a summary Statement of the statutes and common law of the state, together with the decisions of the supreme court and all the approved Forma and Precedents and other Public Officers, according to Modern Practice.

The whole intended as a complete practical application of the new revised statutes of North Carolina. By Benjamin Swain

For convenience of reference this work is divided into heads (Chapters). Alphabetically arranged corresponding precisely with of the new Revised Statutes of North Carolina.

Each chapter will generally consist of three departments viz:

First, a summary of the Statute Law briefly stated in short paragraph, numbered according to the section of the Act.

Secondly, a concise statement of the points relating to the subject of the Chapter, so far as they are considered well settled either by the decision of the Courts, or by the books of highest authority on the Common Law; careful reference being generally made to the authority on which the position stated is founded.

Thirdly, all the forms and precedents, necessary for applying the subject matter of each Chapter, will be will be inserted in the latter part of the Chapter, accompanied with such notes and observations as appear necessarily to render the whole intelligible to the reader.

Editor Note:

In the coming months sections from this book will be included in the Journal as a reference to what the law might have been in 1839 in North Carolina.
