Basic Photo Preservation

with thanks to Prairie Roots

Ok, you may now have identified, categorized, and labeled your photos; but how do you keep them or preserve them? Here are a few tips to help you.

Moisture - Dampness from either a wet basement or just excess humidity can ruin photos with mildew, wet paper, spots, and rust. "Tintypes" can suffer the worst effects because they are made of iron and can rust easily. Store photos and negatives in a place that has about 40% humidity.

Dust & Dirt - are another foe of photos. Any constant cleaning of the surface of the photo will lead to scratches.

Light - After regular exposure to light, the image on the photograph will begin to fade or the color will lose their intensity. The amount of degradation, depends on the magnitude and duration to the source. Rather than displaying your great-grandfather original photo, why not display a copy?

Rodents - Mice don't know that the irreplaceable photo of great-grandmother was not meant to be a bed! Keep those photographs free of tempting food particles and tuck in a secure spot.

Temperature - Excess temperatures, higher than 68 degrees, can cause possible chemical deterioration of the photo thus the loss of image. The paper it is mounted on will also suffer the effects of the heat. Therefore, storage of photos in the attic is a NO-NO.

Handling - Care should also be taken when handling the photos, slides, or negatives, Oils from your fingers will leave a mark on the image and usually can not be removed without damaging the photo. Handle them by the edges or with cotton gloves.

Storage - Now that we have dealt with some of the don'ts — how do you store photos properly?

Photographs should be stored individually in either plastic sleeves made of uncoated polyester or paper envelopes made of acid free paper. The plastic has the advantage of being able to view without touching but the paper protects photos from the light. These photos should be stored flat in acid free boxes. Do not pile too many photographs on top of each other. Writing on the back of the photo is not recommended by most experts but if you need to, a special archival pen is the best to use.

Standards recommended for sound genealogical research

Remembering always that they are engaged in a quest for truth, family history researchers consistently -

Record the source for each item of information they collect.

Test every hypothesis or theory against credible evidence, and reject those that are not supported by the evidence.

Seek original records, or reproduced images of them when there is reasonable assurance they have not been altered, as the basis for their research conclusions.

Use compilations, communications and published works, whether paper or electronic, primarily for their value as guides to locating the original records, or as contributions to the critical analysis of the evidence discussed in them.

State something as a fact only when it is supported by convincing evidence, and identify the evidence when communicating the fact to others.

Limit with words like probable or possible any statement that is based on less than convincing evidence, and state the reasons for concluding that it is probable or possible.

Avoid misleading other researchers by either intentionally or carelessly distributing or publishing inaccurate information.

State carefully and honestly the results of their own research, and acknowledge all use of other researchers' work.

Recognize the collegial nature of genealogical research by making their work available to others through publication, or by placing copies in appropriate libraries or repositories, and by welcoming critical comment.

Consider with open minds new evidence or the comments of others on their work and the conclusions they have reached.

Some fascinating things on old tombstones! **

Harry Edsel Smith of Albany, New York:
Born 1903--Died 1942.

Way down. It was.

In a Thurmont, Maryland, cemetery:
Here lies an Atheist, all dressed up and no place to go.

On the grave of Ezekial Aikle in East Dalhousie Cemetery,
Nova Scotia :
Here lies Ezekial Aikle, Age 102. Only The Good Die Young.

In a London, England cemetery:

Mann. Dec. 8, 1767

In a Ribbesford, England, cemetery:

The children of Israel wanted bread, And the Lord sent Them manna.
Clark Wallace wanted a wife, And the Devil sent him Anna.

In a Uniontown, Pennsylvania, cemetery:

But slow on the draw.

A lawyer's epitaph in England :
Sir John Strange.
Here lies an honest lawyer,
And that is Strange.

John Penny's epitaph in the Wimborne, England, cemetery:
Reader, if cash thou art in want of any,
Dig 6 feet deep and thou wilt find a Penny.

Anna Hopewell's grave in Enosburg Falls, Vermont :
Here lies the body of our Anna,
Done to death by a banana.
It wasn't the fruit that laid her low,
But the skin of the thing that made her go.

On a grave from the 1830s in Nantucket, Massachusetts :
Under the sod and under the trees,
Lies the body of Jonathan Pease.
He is not here, there's only the pod.
Pease shelled out and went to God.
