From the President—

Time is really flying by. June already and vacations starting. When you are out traveling on vacation be sure to take a note pad and camera. You never know what you will find in your travels.

Family reunions have already started. I attended the Barker reunion in May and what a celebration it was. The house our ancestors lived in has been completely restored and also put on the Historical Register. This is a picture and write-up that was in the Daily Dispatch. My great, great grandmother was raised in this house.

Barker House Gets National Recognition

By Sarah Mansur, Dispatch Staff

A historic Vance County property was added this month to the National Register of Historic Places.

The Barker House, on Barker Road, is a plantation house that predates the Civil War with roots that have been traced back to the 18th century.

Jim Barker, along with his two brothers, are descendants of the home's original owners.

He and his brothers grew up in Pennsylvania, but their father's relatives hailed from Vance and Granville counties.

"We visited North Carolina once a year to visit family there," Jim Barker said. "We always heard about an old house where my father was born and his father was born."

The home was sold out of the family back in the 1930s, so Jim Barker and his brothers would admire the structure from afar when they visited it.

Bill Barker, one of the three brothers, said he and his siblings were always learning tales from their family's past as they grew up.

"We were brought up in another generation in many ways," Bill Barker said. "Our great-grandfathers were Civil War veterans. We had the luxury to hear all these magnificent stories, and the house played a big part of that. It really helped us to understand history better."

Our June meeting broke our records for attendance. There were 101 people who came out to hear our featured Speaker: Mr. Joe Dittmar present "Lessons Learned from a Date with Destiny: An Historic and Inspirational View of 9/11/01".

Joe Dittmar was the guest speaker at the Granville County Genealogical Society's monthly meeting on Thursday, June 4, 2015 at 6:30 p.m. in the conference room of Thornton Library in Oxford. He presented the program "Lessons Learned from a Date with Destiny: An Historic and Inspirational View of 9/11/01". His presentation provided an eyewitness account of the sights and sounds from inside and outside the World Trade Center Complex on September 11, 2001. He also revealed what really happened before, during and after the terrorist attacks. Dittmar was attending a meeting of 54 insurance executives on the 105th floor of Two World Trade Center on 9/11. He was one of seven survivors from that meeting.

September 11, 2001 had an enormous impact on the study of genealogy in that countless families were forever altered. Over 3,000 children lost their parents. Husbands, wives, brothers, sisters, etc. were also lost on that terrible day.

A Philadelphia, PA native, Joe Dittmar has worked in the insurance industry for 35 years. He currently is Director of Property Underwriting for Rockhill Specialty Programs in Durham, NC. Previously, he worked in senior management at Colony Insurance, Lexington Insurance, Allianz Global Risks, CNA Insurance Company and Wausau/Liberty Mutual Insurance. Dittmar and his wife live in Chapel Hill and have four children and two grandchildren. He is also a founding member of the Napierville 9/11 Memorial Commission.

There were tears shed during his speech and to think of all the people that did not survive. Where were you on 9/11/2001?

The Granville County Genealogical Society has received an invitation to attend the 152nd Anniversary Celebration of the Historic Big Zion A.M.E. Zion Church, the oldest A.M. E. Zion Church in Granville County, NC, on July 19th, 2015 at 6143 Huntsboro Road, Oxford, North Carolina 27565. Sunday Service at 11:00 AM. 152nd Anniversary Celebration at 3:00 PM at the church.

The Society was instrumental and helped clean the church cemetery a few years ago.

Mildred

Delayed Birth Certificates on file at the Register of Deeds Office in the Court House in Oxford, NC

Editors Note:

The delayed birth certificates were completed after 1913 when the law was added that everyone would have a birth certificate. These can be found for Granville County at the Register of Deeds Office in the Courthouse and at Vital Records Branch in Raleigh. To get a delayed birth certificate you had to show proof of either a Bible Record, school record, affidavit from a family member or other proof in order to get one. An example; my mother did not get one due to no parent living, no Bible Record, no date of birth on school record. The only proof was her word that she was born on March 7, 1896.

More than 16 Million Virginia Records Are Now Digitized and Online

by Dick Eastman

Governor Terry McAuliffe announced on Tuesday morning that a massive project to help Virginians find important documents is now finished.

So far, birth and death records from 1912 to the present, marriage records from 1936 to the present and divorce records from 1918 to the present have been scanned and are available. Images are available and the records have also been indexed.

Here is the announcement from the Office of Governor McAuliffe:

RICHMOND – Governor Terry McAuliffe today announced the completion of a two-year, public-private collaboration between the Virginia Department of Health (VDH) and Ancestry.com that fully digitizes the state’s vital records. To date, more than 16 million records have been digitized and indexed. Scanned images of the original, public* documents are available online through Ancestry.com. Access to the indexed information on the records is available free of charge through VDH’s Division of Vital Records’ and the Library of Virginia’s websites.

“This public-private project demonstrates Virginia’s continued commitment to innovation, efficiency and leveraging information technology to the benefit of all,” said Governor Terry McAuliffe. “Having all Virginia vital records digitized means millions of public birth, death, marriage and divorce records are now more easily accessed for genealogy and family history research. This project also provides a long-term conservation solution for preserving the rich history of Virginia’s people.”

“I am pleased that this project has come to fruition,” said Secretary of Health and Human Resources Dr. Bill Hazel. “It was a major undertaking and citizens will now enjoy the ability to find more information about their heritage.”

“Family history and individual health are closely linked,” said State Health Commissioner Marissa J. Levine, MD, MPH, FAAFP. “Through this project, people can more easily explore their ancestors’ lives and possibly identify family health conditions or hereditary risk factors. This information is empowering and takes us one step closer to our goal of becoming the healthiest state in the nation.”

The project began two years ago following legislation (Senate Bill 660 in 2012) supporting digitizing vital records. So far, birth and death records from 1912 to the present, marriage records from 1936 to the present and divorce records from 1918 to the present have been scanned and are available. Non-public records—those that have not yet reached the required time for release—are only available in a “limited index,” which discloses only an individual’s name and the date and location of the event.

“We are grateful for the opportunity to help Virginia increase access to these records for Commonwealth residents,” said Ancestry Senior Director Global Content Acquisition Quinton Atkinson. Virginia plays a special role in the history of the United States. Tens of thousands of people researching their family history have been anxiously awaiting the opportunity to learn more about their ancestors through these records. It is an exciting moment for the entire genealogy community.”

“Throughout this project and beyond, maintaining the integrity of Virginia’s Vital Records System and the security of people’s records remains our priority,” said VDH Chief Information Officer Debbie Condrey. “All documents were scanned under the supervision of trained VDH Vital Records staff following strict protocols.”

“It is exciting and rewarding to successfully implement a records project of this magnitude and historical significance,” added State Registrar and Division of Vital Records Director Janet Rainey. “This project is one of the first of its kind in the nation.”

* In Virginia, death, marriage and divorce data become “public” information 25 years after the event; birth data are “public” after 100 years.

Abstracts From An 18th Century Granville County, North Carolina School Master’s Ledger

This ledger contains a number of instructional tables for various measurements and mathematics, as well as letters and indentures. Many entries concern the Yancey Family of Granville County from the years 1767 to 1793. The schoolmaster himself is not identified, but appears to be associated with the Yancey Family. The following is a cursory description of the contents of the ledger; it can be viewed in its entirety at the NC Digital Heritage Center website:

The Schoolmasters Ledger is located permanently at the Granville County History Museum, which generously allowed this important piece of our local history to be digitized and reproduce.

Oakwood Cemetery, Louisburg, NC

Remarks at Oakwood Cemetery
Confederate Memorial Service
Sunday, May 17, 2015-2:00 p.m.
In Memory of Confederate Dead
And Veterans of Other Wars
by Emma B. Stewart

It is an honor to welcome you to Oakwood, Louisburg's historic cemetery, which dates from 1861. The Town Council recently added the "Oakwood" wrought iron arch to the stone entrance, to better identify the cemetery to those from out of town.

The arch rests atop two stone pillars designed by M. Stuart Davis, a local architect and engineer. They were erected in 1932 to honor the memory of Capt. Richard Fenner Yarborough, who gave four acres of his farmland to St. Paul's Episcopal Church in 1861 as a burial ground.

The first person buried here was John Neal, Capt. Yarborough's brother-in-law, who died on Oct. 31, 1861. His daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. P. Neal, took a very active interest in the cemetery. She drew a map (which the Person Place Preservation Society has for sale), and she had the honor of naming the grounds "Oakwood Cemetery" at the 1932 ceremony for the entrance.

It was Mrs. Neal who had previously enlisted the help of the Louisburg Police Chief and the Sheriff to have county convicts prepare the front of the cemetery, made possible by the straightening of the Warrenton road. People who lived out in the county, according to Mrs. Neal, "brought loads of rocks on their wagons as they came to town to get their provisions and fertilizer. This wall [she said] is a memorial to their loved ones who are buried in these grounds."

In October of 1932 St. Paul's Episcopal Church deeded Oakwood Cemetery to the Town of Louisburg. The Town has continued to maintain it for the past 83 years, adding additional land from Willie Avent in the mid 20th century.

This cemetery, then, has been sacred ground for over 150 years. It is the final resting place for many of our county and town's husbands, wives, brothers and sisters, children, and veterans of wars spanning the Civil War, the two World Wars, the Korean War, the Vietnam War, and probably our more recent Middle East wars. We are especially glad to honor our Vietnam veterans on this 50th Anniversary of that war.

As we gaze across these grounds, we see Confederate flags fluttering to mark graves of Confederate veterans. It is estimated that about 1,400 Franklin County men served in the Confederacy and about 400 died. An online census of Oakwood, which I came across, noted 21 CSA veterans, although the article in this past Thursday's Franklin Times cited 54; I'm sure that figure is the most accurate one! Among the names I found are familiar Franklin County ones such as Ballard, Barrow, Beddingfield, Cade, Clifton, Cooke, Cooper (my relative), Davis, Hawkins, Horton, Kearney, Malone, Matthews, May, Meadows, Nash, Person, Spencer, Thomas, White, and Williams.

Since 1979, I have been closely involved with the Person Place Preservation Society. Although part of the Person Place dates from the 18th century, it has been referred to as "The Person Place" since the purchase of it in 1858 by Thomas A. and Abiah Person. I would like to focus for a few minutes mainly on one of the Person family, Matthew Presley Person, who was a CSA veteran and who is resting here. This is possible for me to do, thanks to the extensive research and writings in 1983 by Joseph E. Elmore, the Person Place Historian.

Matthew P. Person was born Oct. 7, 1834, and died a bachelor at the Person Place in Louisburg on April 2, 1898, at the age of 63. He was one for four Person sons who served in the Civil War. Their letters are to be found in the Perkins Library at Duke University, but you can view them online at the Person Place website. These letters to and from Louisburg give a fascinating insight into the hopes, fears, deprivations, and loss experienced throughout the war.

Matthew enlisted in the 1st North Carolina Cavalry on May 4, 1862, at the age of 27, as a farrier, that is, a blacksmith and caretaker of horses. Prior to enlisting, he had attended Wake Forest College and had contented himself with farming in the Hayesville township.

Matthew followed his next younger brother Jesse, who became an officer, into the Pt NC Cavalry. Jesse was shot in the head on July 3, 1863 at the Battle of Gettysburg and was buried near Hometown, Pennsylvania.

Three weeks after Jesse's death, the middle Person boy, Thomas B., enlisted. He too joined the 1st NC Cavalry and was killed in a battle at Auburn, Virginia, on Oct. 14, 1863. He was buried in Warrenton, Virginia. Thus, in less than four months, the Person family had lost two of their five sons.

A fourth brother, Samuel J. Person, also served briefly in the waning year of the war. At age 17, he was a cadet at Hillsborough Military Institute. When activated, he helped guard the railway at Weldon until the end of hostilities.

Let me return to our Oakwood CSA veteran Matthew P. Person. He had an interesting and often lucky wartime experience, which spanned the years of May, 1862, until April of 1865. Soon after entering the Army, he became seriously ill for months. As a result, he missed the Seven Days Battle. Later, he was on furlough back home and was unable to get back with the 1st Cavalry at Gettysburg, where his brother Jesse was killed.

When he was finally able to rejoin his unit, he had to deal with trying to get his brother's personal effects sent home, as well as trying to recruit and care for horses there in the area of Culpepper, Virginia.

Matthew lucked out again by earning leave after recruiting a new soldier from home, Billy Perry. He thus missed the Battle of the Wilderness (May 5-7, 1864).

His war experience took yet another turn when he was transferred from the cavalry to the 1ST Regiment's Barringer's Brigade Band in late 1864. In letters home, he asked his mother to make him a short—not a long-tailed coat-- and to send his fiddle! Perhaps an injury caused his transfer from tending horses to fiddling.

While remnants of Barringer's Brigade surrendered with Lee at Appomattox on April 9, 1865, there is evidence that Matthew Person was already home. In any event, he returned to his farm in the Hayesville township and spent the remainder of his years caring for his widowed mother, as well as his brothers and sisters.

Judge Charles M. Cooke, another well-known local CSA veteran, wrote Matthew's 1898 obituary and said:

He was a member of the famous First North Carolina Cavalry Regiment and remained with it a faithful soldier of the Confederacy until Appomattox came.... His life was singularly temperate. He was frank with his friends, and to them was always loyal and sincere. Another of our Confederate Veterans is gone.... Our ranks are thinning fast. Let us strive for the happy reunion.

The late Tim Russert, world-famous journalist and moderator of Meet the Press, spoke movingly of honoring our dead in his memoir of his father, entitled Big Russ and Me. He said:

...as much as we wish it were otherwise, grief and loss are central to our lives, and when somebody near us loses a loved one, we have a duty to show up, to be there, and to help them remember; to offer a hand and a shoulder, and yes, to celebrate a life.

You all have "shown up" today to honor those who in the past "showed up" for their country and their beliefs, and who are buried here. May we always remember them with respect. Thank you.
